KALAUPAPA
A COLLECTIVE MEMORY
Kalaupapa
The publication of this book was made possible through sponsorship of the Native Hawaiian Center of Excellence, John A. Burns School of Medicine, University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa. Partial funding for this publication was provided by the Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources Services Administration, Bureau of Health Professions, Division of Health Careers, Diversity and Development.
Kalaupapa
A COLLECTIVE MEMORY

Anwei Skinsnes Law

WITH A FOREWORD BY
Bernard Ka'owakaokalani Punikai'a

A Latitude 20 Book
UNIVERSITY OF HAWAI‘I PRESS
HONOLULU
With respect, to the memory of J. N. Loe, one of the first twelve people relocated to the Kalaupapa Peninsula in 1866, who sought to radiate the light of truth about himself and others who had been forcibly sent so far from home;

With love, to the memory of David Ono Kupele, who was determined that the history of an estimated eight thousand individuals who were forcibly sent to Kalaupapa, at least 90 percent of whom were Native Hawaiians, including five generations of his family, would be remembered;

With a heart full of thanks, to all the people of Kalaupapa, who have radiated kindness and hope, each in their own unique way, to the people of Hawaii, the nation, and the world;

And to my family, who have given a lifetime of support to this book, especially my parents, Dr. Olaf and Elizabeth Skinsnes, my husband Henry, my daughter Lian... and my most treasured friend, Olivia.
Contents

ix Foreword by Bernard Ka'owakaokalani Punika'a xi Preface

Part I. What Shall Be Done? (1866–1883)

3 1. Perhaps They Are Just Left There: The First Twelve People Arrive at Kalawao
15 2. The Thoughts of the Hawaiian Family Have Been Aroused: Two Cultural Responses to Leprosy
27 3. Not of the Hawaiian Culture: The Onset of Starvation and Political Activism
41 4. Siloam’s Healing Pool: Early Leadership at Kalawao
53 5. Misfortune and Great Sorrow Has Beset Me: William Humphreys Uwelealea
63 6. With Heaviness of Mind: Jonathan Hawai Napela
73 7. His Dying Words Were “A Little Poi”: Peter Young Kaeo
87 8. You Could Not Wish for Better People: The Arrival of Father Damien
101 9. Steaming Hot Coffee: Ambrose Kanewalii Hutchison
115 10. Damien with the Sparkling Eyes: Music, Kindness, Celebration
127 11. A Different Circle: Mother Marianne Cope and the Sisters of St. Francis

Part II. What Is Proper and Just? (1884–1901)

141 12. “Kaumaha Nohoi” (Deep Sorrow): Queen Kapiolani Visits Kalaupapa
153 13. Indignity Keenly Felt by All: Experience in the Lahaina Prison
161 14. I Am Not Guilty: Keanu and Dr. Arning
169 15. “We Will Take Care of Him”: Father Damien Is Diagnosed with Leprosy
179 16. Ways That Are a Little Exceptional: Joseph Dutton and Father Conrardy
189 17. Seriously Consider What Is Proper and Just: Effects of the Bayonet Constitution
199 18. Kapoli Brought Flowers: Kapoli Kamakau
213 19. Nunc Dimittis: The Death of Father Damien
225 20. Unforgotten in Our Hearts: Kalauikoolau, Piilani, and Kaleimanu
237 21. We, Your Nation of People, Will Survive: Queen Liliuokalani and the Hawaiian Kingdom
251 22. The Soul of This Land: Robert Kaaaoao and Thomas Nakanaela
265 23. It Is in Your Power to Make All Things Right: The Quest for Self-Government

Part III. From Generation to Generation (1902–1929)

281 24. Entitled to Every Consideration: Mr. McVeigh and Dr. Goodhue
297 25. The Fourth of July, 1907: Jack and Charmian London Visit Kalaupapa
313 26. No Place to Honor This Man: Elemakule Pa and the Federal Hospital
329 27. We Called It Ohana: The Bishop Home
339 28. “O Makalapua”: The Death of Mother Marianne
347 29. From Generation to Generation: David Kupele and Ben Pea
363 30. Chaulmoogra Oil—Hawaii’s Message of Renewed Life: Alice Kamaka and Rosalie Blaisdell
373 31. A Blending of Souls: Tandy MacKenzie, Adeline Bolster, and Maria von Trapp
381 32. Every Night We Have Music: John Cambra, Kenso Seki, and the Baldwin Home
393 33. The Suffering Was on Both Sides of the Fence: “Fence-Jumping” at Kalihi Hospital