PREFACE

The note to the first edition of this Classification, published in 1894, stated that "this classification of books, practically applied to a university collection of 60,000 volumes, in its collocation of subjects is believed to more nearly conform to courses of instruction at present pursued in the University than do other schemes now in print. Whenever required by large increase of the library, a more minute differentiation of topics may be effected by adding lower case letters of the alphabet to class marks here given."

Gradual growth to over 300,000 volumes (April, 1915) has necessitated amplification. No changes, no erasures, were required on the books, catalogues, or other records; the addition of one or more letters proved to be a simple, rapid, cheap process. New subjects, like Aeroplanes, Photo-plays, War of 1914-, easily found their appropriate places.

The expansion has been carried down through class 302, and a few other subjects—as Botany, Architecture, Semitic and Germanic Literatures, have been similarly treated. For these portions the classification is ample in a general library of this size.

We are printing a very limited edition of the classification as it now stands for our own convenience, and therefore need not apologize for not expanding it as a whole.

Just a word as to the notation. This classification demonstrates the feasibility of short class marks on a 999 base. Mnemonic marks were not originally attempted, but with expansion certain marks have become distinctive; thus, 252 is the basic number for all sub-classes under Peru. It may be safely claimed that fewer errors occur with class marks composed of two or three digits and a letter (provided the letter is plainly written), than with those of four or more digits. Experience with telephone four-figure numbers corroborates this.

Finally, this classification is not copyrighted. Any one is at liberty to change or transform it to satisfy special needs or local conditions.

J. C. ROWELL.
